

SOCIETY AND PERSONAL MENTION.

AFFAIRS IN WASHINGTON AND OTHER CITIES.

Miss Roosevelt Returns to White House for Christmas---Lady Herbert and Her Son Expected at British Embassy Today.

The White House.
Miss Roosevelt, the daughter of the President, who has been visiting friends in New York for the past two weeks, returned to the White House yesterday.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., passed yesterday in New York.

The Foreign Colony.
Lady Herbert, who went to New York last week to be with her sister, Mrs. Connelley Vanderbilt, whose husband has been seriously ill, will return to the embassy this afternoon with her son, Sidney, who arrived on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse Sunday.

The Brazilian minister and Mrs. de Assis-Brasil, who have decided to remain in New York for the winter, are visiting the Argentine minister and Senora Meron.

Lieutenant Commander Schaefer, recently appointed naval attaché of the German embassy to succeed Captain von Reuber-Paschwitz, who is at present stationed at Kiel, has reached the embassy. Captain Schaefer comes of a distinguished family and is a man of pleasing personality. He will be an addition to the Diplomatic Corps.

Lieutenant Clark's Ball.

Lieut. Robert Sterling Clark's dance at the New Willard last night was by far the smartest function that has taken place this season. Mr. Clark was assisted in receiving by his sister-in-law, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, a bride of last fall, and his cousin, Miss Chaffee, who distributed the favors for the cotillon; Mrs. Cowles, Mrs. G. P. Scriven, Mrs. W. W. Rockhill, Mrs. W. R. Merriam, Mrs. Corbin, Miss Susan Kean, and Miss M. E. Chaffee. Mrs. Clark wore an extremely becoming toilette of white mousseline over pink tulle. Miss Chaffee's frock was of light yellow brocade. Five hundred guests were invited, and supper was served at small tables. It was long after midnight when the cotillon, which was led by George Howard, began. The favors were silver trinkets. Among those attending were Minister Senor Ojeda, the Baroness Hengelmüller, wife of the Austrian ambassador, and her guest, Baroness von Palm; the Persian minister, Gen. Ismael Kahn; Baron Frankenstein, Signor Borghetti, Baron von Ritter, Miss Ogden Jones, and Alexander Jones, of New York; Viscount de Althe, the Misses Wetmore, Miss Alice Ward, Miss Sibley, Miss Anita Poor, Colonel and Mrs. Babcock, General Crozier, Colonel and Mrs. Dugham, Lieutenant and Mrs. Berden, Lieutenant Bell, Lieutenant Ives, Miss de Peyster, Lieutenant Jewett, Colonel Edwards, Miss Washington, Major and Mrs. Greene, Mr. von Callenberg, Lieutenant Moore, Miss Catlin, Miss Merriam, Miss Wilson, daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture; Major Schuyler, Miss Elizabeth Bates, the Misses Patten, Paymaster Hicks, Capt. Joseph S. Herron, Miss Loring, Miss MacVeagh, Miss Mary Sheridan, Miss Parquhar, Miss Hagner, Miss Clagett, Captain Leonard, Lieutenant Graeme, and Lieutenant Marble.

Dinners.
The Italian ambassador and Signora des Planches, who are exerting themselves in every way for the pleasure of the younger members of society, gave a small dinner last night. Their guests included the charge d'affaires of the French embassy and Mme. de Margerie, the Belgian minister and Baroness Moncheur and Miss Clayton, sister of Baroness Moncheur, and Charles L. E. Lardy, the charge d'affaires of the Swiss legation. After dinner the party went to Lieutenant Clark's dance, at the New Willard.

Mrs. Juan Atwell will give a dinner in honor of Bishop Spaulding at Rauscher's tonight.

Before the ball which he gave last night, Lieut. Robert Sterling Clark entertained his house guests at dinner at his home in Connecticut Avenue. His guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, Miss Chaffee, Stephen Clark, Alexander Jones, Robert Maclay, George Potts, Southernland Irving, and Waldo Johnston, Miss Frances Ogden Jones and her niece.

Edwin Morgan entertained a party of forty guests last night at Rauscher's. Mrs. Cowles and Mrs. Herbert H. D. Pierce received for Mr. Morgan. The company was seated at four tables, which were decorated with holly. His guests were Miss Alice Roosevelt, the Belgian minister and Baroness Moncheur, the Portuguese minister, Viscount de Althe; the charge d'affaires of the French embassy and Mme. de Margerie; the Misses Hitchcock, Countess Cassini, Mlle. des Planches, Count Quadt, of the German embassy; Mr. Norman, of the British embassy; Mr. and Mrs. James Wadsworth, Jr.; Major McCawley, Senor Riano, the Misses Warden, Walter V. R. Berry, and Hon. Geoffrey Howard and Arthur Stanley, of England.

General Corbin and Mrs. Corbin were the guests of honor at a dinner given in Cincinnati Wednesday night by J. G. Schmidlapp. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Maxwell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft, and Mr. and Mrs. Colston.

Colonel and Mrs. Clarence Edwards gave a dinner last night of thirty covers. The company afterward went to Lieutenant Clark's dance.

The Secretary of the Navy will entertain at dinner on Christmas Day

Luncheons.

Miss Jessie Benton Fremont gave a luncheon yesterday. Her guests were the Misses Tyler, Miss Pansy Bloomer, Miss Mabel Perkins, Miss Jean Loring, Miss Elise Logan, Miss Anna Cockrell, and Miss Sally Schroeder.

Mrs. Charles Glover entertained at luncheon today.

Teas.

Mrs. Beverley R. Mason will present her third daughter, Miss Mary Wallace Mason, at a tea on January 3.

Mrs. Thomas Edwin Ridgway has sent out cards for a tea December 30, at 3016 Dumbarton Avenue northwest, to introduce her daughter, Miss Tonita Ridgway.

Weddings.

The marriage of Miss Edith R. Gray and Robert S. Reynolds Hitt took place at St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, today at noon. Vocal and instrumental music was a feature of the wedding. The bride, who is a handsome young woman of the blond type and very popular, was given away by her father, Judge John Clinton Gray, of the New York court of appeals. Miss Gray was attended by Miss Edith Devereaux Clapp, Miss Eva Barbery and Miss Janet Fish, of New York; Miss Ellen Drexel Paul, of Philadelphia, and Miss Alice Burnham and Miss Nannie Thayer, of Boston. Mr. Hitt's best man was his brother, W. F. Hitt. His ushers were the bride's brothers, J. Clinton Gray, Jr., Austin Gray, Jr., H. Rogers Winthrop, Milton S. Barger, Payne Whitney, William Hale, and Dr. Van Buren. After the wedding a reception and breakfast were given at the Metropolitan Club. Many Washington people went over for the ceremony.

Mr. Hitt, who has been attached to the American embassy in Paris for several years, has recently been transferred to Berlin.

Frederick S. Emmons, formerly of this city, son of George E. Emmons, and Miss Lella T. Arnold, daughter of R. A. Arnold, were quietly married yesterday at the parsonage of old Christ Church, East Washington, by Rev. A. S. Johns, the rector, and started immediately for Brooklyn, N. Y., where they will reside.

In Grace Church Chantry on Saturday Miss Edith Maud Benedict, the daughter of James Benedict, was married to Pierre Jay Wurts. Mr. Wurts is a first cousin of Col. William Jay. He is also related to the Wurts and Dundas-Wurts and Dundas Lippincott Wurts families of Philadelphia. He has been living for several years at 58 Washington Square North.

Another wedding that took place on Saturday in the chantry of the Church of Zion and St. Timothy, was that of Elizabeth Amory Day, the daughter of the late Dr. Walter De Forest Day, well known ten years ago socially and professionally, and J. Ernest Windest, of London. The bride was given away by her brother, S. Sherwood Day. Only the relatives and a few intimate friends were present at the ceremony.

Engagements.
Representative Newlands, of Nevada, announces the engagement of his daughter, Edith, to Charles Johnston, son of the late Dr. W. W. Johnston.

Mrs. William Conard announces the engagement of her son, Clarence Knight Conard and Miss Rosalie Rives, of Charlottesville, Va.

Social Chat From Baltimore.

A delightful event in society yesterday evening was the ball given by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Semmes in honor of their daughter, Miss Frances Semmes, at their residence, 16 East Eager Street. The entire first floor was artistically decorated with holly, crowsfoot and Southern amallax, which predominated in the hall and rooms.

The small tables of eight covers each, at which the guests were served supper, were decorated with American Beauty roses and lighted with red wax candles, with shades of bright red. An orchestra, concealed behind palms in a corner of the drawing room, discoursed an excellent program for dancing and played several selections during the supper. Mrs.

MENUS TO GLADDEN CHRISTMAS DINERS

The interest aroused in the series of menus for Christmas dinners, The Times has been publishing for the past few days, has induced Manager Talty, of the Raleigh, to have prepared a contribution to the list from his house. The first of the menus is limited to $1 a plate, and is designed as a guide to housewives in the preparation of their home dinners. No account is taken of the cost of preparation in this instance, and the $1 a plate represents only the cost of the raw material.

Semmes and her daughter, who is one of last season's most sought after debutantes, received the guests alone.

There were present, besides many married guests, the debutantes of this and last season and many young men.

Mrs. Elsie Woodbury Brown, of New York, the fiancée of Thomas Courtney Jenkins, who came to Baltimore to attend the ball given by Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel N. James last Friday evening at Lehmann's Hall, and who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Jenkins at their residence on Chase Street, left yesterday for New York. Miss Brown will return to Baltimore in time for the large theater party which is to be given in her honor by Mrs. Jenkins on the evening of January 2, at the Academy of Music, to see "The Chinese Honeymoon."

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Whitridge, who have been spending several days at the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York, have returned home.

Philadelphia Gossip.
Gen. and Mrs. Leonard Wood are the guests of the Misses Sanders of 1225 Locust Street.

The second Fortnightly Cotillon will be held this evening in Natorium Hall at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. T. Barnalde Morris and Miss Anna Morris will give a small dinner tonight at their residence, 241 South Twenty-first Street, before the second Fortnightly Cotillon. The dinner is in honor of Miss Van Reypen of Washington, D. C.

Miss Margaretta Porter will join her father, Major John Biddle Porter, U. S. A., who is stationed in St. Paul. Miss Porter will remain in St. Paul during this winter.

Lieut. C. Rodman Jones, of the First United States Cavalry, is in Philadelphia for a few days on leave of absence. Lieutenant Jones has just finished his second tour of duty in the Philippines.

Capt. and Mrs. C. F. Goodrich will give a luncheon on board the United States steamship Minneapolis, now at League Island Navy Yard, next Friday, in honor of her cousin, Miss Mabel Heyward Taylor.

New York Notes.

The first of a set of dances known as the Farmington subscription dances was given last night at Sherry's. The young women who organized these dances are graduates of the famous school for girls founded and presided over for so many years by Miss Porter at Farmington, Conn. The guests were received by Mrs. William T. Gulliver, Mrs. Thomas Thacher, and Mrs. Tucker. It was rather an early and informal dance. The cotillon was led by Scott McLanahan, who danced alone.

Some of the subscribers are Miss Louise Gulliver, Miss Louise Thacher, Miss Edith Lounsbury, the Misses Hubbell, Miss Tuckerman, the Misses Brice, Miss Mae Fell, Mrs. F. Burton Harrison, and Mrs. H. F. Dimock. The next dance will be given on February 12.

Mrs. Randolph Hurry gave at Dods-worth's last night a dance for her debutante daughter, Miss Elizabeth M. Hurry. There was a cotillon, which was led by Renwick C. Hurry, who danced with his cousin, the debutante.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic J. de Peyster gave a dinner last evening at the de Peyster residence, 14 East Sixty-sixth Street. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dimock, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Schieffelin, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Powers, Mrs. Jared Beekman, and John McKim.

Mrs. Charles Meyers, of Hempstead, gave another of a series of Monday at-homes yesterday at the residence of her brother, Dr. George Cornell Freeborn, 215 West Seventieth Street, to introduce her daughter, Miss Jeannette Meyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle will give a novel entertainment in the form of a Christmas tree party on Wednesday evening at their residence, 2104 Walnut Street.

A small dance will be given at Delmonico's this evening by Mrs. Almon Goodwin, of 128 West Fifty-ninth Street, for her debutante daughter, Miss Hilda Hawthorne Goodwin.

Mrs. Eben Wright, of 10 West Fifty-third Street, will give a theater

The Raleigh's manager admits that in the preparation of such a dinner his assistants are not as well versed as in getting up more elaborate feasts. For a second menu, upon which no limit was placed as to price, the following card which the Raleigh will serve at $16 a plate, represents their idea as to the best dinner that it is possible to prepare:

Glover, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mrs. William Cary Sawyer, Mrs. Wetmore and Miss Patten.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Guthridge have returned from New York, where they have been visiting for several weeks.

The Saturday Evening Assembly will give a dance Saturday evening, December 27, at the National Rifles' Armory.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, of Newport, have leased Mrs. Allan McLean's house, on Iowa Circle, for the winter.

Miss Lillis has gone to her home in Cleveland for the holidays.

Miss Godwin, who has been visiting the Misses Truxton, of Norfolk, has returned home.

George L. Taylor, of Boston, who was one of the ushers at the wedding on Wednesday of Miss Maybelle Herman to Howard Prescott Gatley, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams, Jr., whose marriage took place here November 25, have been visiting Mrs. Williams' parents, Colonel and Mrs. Craig.

UNIQUE FOLDER ISSUED BY C. & O. RAILWAY

Passenger May Read Description of Each Locality Through Which He Passes.

One of the most unique and practical railroad folders ever seen in this city has just been issued by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway. Its makeup is along lines suggested by W. S. Bronson, assistant general passenger agent of the road.

It is called an annotated folder, and combines with the time tables of the passenger trains an abridged sketch, both historical and descriptive, of all of the principal towns and cities along the line. By its use the passenger can follow the movement of the train as it speeds along, follow closely the schedule, and read of the attractions of the places he is passing without turning a page for reference.

After noting the public buildings to be seen from the train as it crosses the Long Bridge and enters the city, the following interesting description of Washington is given:

"The Nation's Capital is every year becoming more and more a Mecca for sightseers, business men, and politicians. It is acknowledged to be one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Like a great spider's web it lies among a cluster of gently rising hills. Half the entire area is streets and parks. There are 120 miles of the widest streets in the world, shaded by magnificent trees and paved with asphalt. In October, 1800, when the seat of government was transferred from Philadelphia to Washington, the whole force of clerks employed was only fifty-four, and the records were placed in five large and seven small boxes. Now the city is famous for its handsome and costly public and private buildings and is everywhere adorned with beautiful and imposing monuments, statues, and memorials of the nation's illustrious dead."

DRURY LANE CLUB.

The Drury Lane Club, composed of boys, and under the management of Master Vinson Walsh, gave its second program Saturday evening for the benefit of the Newsboys' Home. Thomas F. Walsh has converted the second floor of his home into a charming little theater, and standing room was sold at high prices.

"Captain Racket" was the play given, and the characters were portrayed as follows: Capt. Bob Racket, Vinson Walsh; Obadiah Dawson, Herbert Townsend; Timothy Tolman, Fred Holtzman; Hobson, J. Holmes Magruder; Clarice Racket, Newton K. Fox; Mrs. Tolman, Neil Finch; Katy (maid), Karl S. Bradford; Tootsy (Kid), "N. H." Norman. Lee is treasurer and Sterling Larabee assistant treasurer.
